

OFFICER SLAYS RESISTING MAN

INDIANAPOLIS POLICEMAN SHOOT ALLEGED DANVILLE BANDIT IN SELF-DEFENSE, ACCORDING TO WITNESSES—RESISTED ARREST FOLLOWING HOLD-UP OF FOUR COLORED MEN

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 29.—George Clark 18 years old, Danville, Ind., was shot and killed early last night by Police Sergeant Ralph Dean on Washington street between West and California streets. Dean said he fired after Clark resisted arrest and drew a revolver.

That Clark apparently had tried to fire at the policeman but the cartridge failed to explode, was later shown by a plunger print in a cartridge in the barrel of a 28 caliber revolver Clark was said to have thrown into the street after he was wounded. Raymond Boyer, 19 years old, also of Danville, Clark's companion, was killed last night by police and later held at the city prison under a charge of robbery.

Four Men Held Up
Dean was in fire station No. 6 on Washington street near West street, shortly after 8 o'clock when Martin Harris, colored, 513 Chesapeake St., ran in and reported that two white men had held up four colored men, including Harris in the home of James Mason, colored, 509 Chesapeake street, a few minutes earlier.

Detective Patrick Roach was passing the fire station and joined Dean and Harris, just as Clark and Boyer turned into Washington street from California street. Harris shouted that they were the bandits and Dean and Roach ran toward them. They caught up with Clark and Boyer in front of Spasa Drekalovich's poolroom 523 West Washington street.

Roach seized Boyer. As Dean approached Clark with drawn revolver, Clark reached under his coat and drew his own weapon. Dean fired. The bullet entered Clark's abdomen. He died on the way to the city hospital in an ambulance.

Clark's body was placed in the city hospital morgue. Coroner Paul F. Robinson announced that he will hold an autopsy this morning.

Son of a Danville Farmer
Clark is the son of Rasmus T. Clark, a farmer of Danville, Ind., who said last night that his son had left there early in the afternoon for Indianapolis.

Sheriff Charles P. Clark of Hendricks county who is in the Eastman hospital recuperating from an operation for appendicitis said that Rasmus T. Clark, the father of the young man is a respected and substantial farmer of Danville.

George Clark was said to have been in trouble for misdemeanors several times in Danville and to have been a source of considerable worry to his parents.

The negroes in Mason's home at the time of the holdup besides Mason and Harris were John L. Merrill, 125 North California street and Vincent Slocum, 517 Chesapeake street. Harris and Mason told police that two men later identified as Clark and Boyer, walked in and while the larger of the bandits covered them with a revolver the smaller searched them. The negroes said 15 cents was taken from Slocum's and that Harris handed over 25 cents, although Boyer is said to have told police later that he obtained $1.10 from the men.

NO DECISION ON M'COY

LOS ANGELES, December 29.—The jury of nine women and three men, which, since last Friday, has been deliberating the case of Kid McCoy, former pugilist, charged with the murder of Mrs. Theresa Moss here last August, spent its third night under lock and key at a hotel after the foreman reported to their court the jurors stood ten to two. There was no statement as to the division.

Half an hour before the impasse was reported the jurors were so hopeful of reaching agreement that they asked Judge Charles S. Crail for a "little more time to take another ballot."

Apparently an unexpected obstacle blocked the path toward unanimity, however, for a little after 9 o'clock the jurors worn and weary were ready to go to bed.

YOUTH KILLED IN HUNTING ACCIDENT

BRAZIL, Ind., Dec. 27.—William Borgham, 18 years old, was accidentally shot and killed by his cousin George Borgham, 17 years old while on a hunting trip near Coalmont today.

William Borgham was leading the way through the woods with George following carrying their only gun a single barrel shotgun, when the latter tripped on briars and fell, the gun being discharged. The load of shot took effect in the left side of the older boy's head inflicting a fatal wound.

The younger lad scared by the accident ran over a mile to the nearest house for assistance but when they returned the young man was dead.

FARM HOME IS SAVED BY THE CITY FIREMEN

HOME OF ALBERT NELSON, WEST OF GREENCASTLE, BADLY DAMAGED BY FIRE—GREENCASTLE FIRE DEPARTMENT RESPONDS TO CALL FOR ASSISTANCE

The home of Albert Nelson, three fourths of a mile west of Greencastle, which was threatened with destruction by fire at near 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, was saved by members of the Greencastle Fire Department, who made the run to the home outside of the city in the auxiliary Ford fire truck and extinguished the blaze with chemicals.

Neighbors of Mr. Nelson who were battling the roof fire, which probably caught from a chimney spark were unable to make any head way against the blaze. A call for help sent to the Greencastle Fire Department was answered by Fire Chief John Goddard and Fireman Otto Biederstedt and George Fritz. Taking the emergency Ford truck, which under officers of Mayor Zeis had been placed in the Fire department last week, which is equipped with hand chemicals apparatus, the firemen had little difficulty in extinguishing the blaze. The house undoubtedly would have been destroyed had the firemen not gone to the assistance of those fighting the fire. The entire roof was blazing when the firemen arrived. Damage to the home will amount to several hundred dollars.

Two minor fires within the city were extinguished by the City firemen, Sunday. A defective grate at the home of Joe Gardner, south Indiana street, which set the wall on fire at near 11 o'clock Sunday morning, was put out by the firemen. A roof fire at the home of Cleve Thomas, east Washington street, at near 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon was also extinguished by city firemen. Damage in both the Sunday fires was slight.

BLOODGOOD AND MYERS FOUND TO BE INELIGIBLE

FORMER DEPAUW FOOTBALL PLAYERS CANNOT PLAY ON NEBRASKA TEAM NEXT SEASON—BLOODGOOD MAY GO TO BIG LEAGUE

LINCOLN, Neb., Dec. 27.—The New York Giants or the St. Louis Cardinals probably gained a rookie outfielder tonight when Elbert Bloodgood regular varsity player on University of Nebraska grid team, declared ineligible for another season of collegiate football. Douglas Myers, regular fullback who played with Bloodgood both at DePauw and at Nebraska was also barred from play next year.

Bloodgood has been offered assignments with both the Giants and the Cardinals but rejected them in order to play another year of football.

Mrs. Fred Frank, of Lafayette and Miss Grace Burdett, of Indianapolis, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Burdette, north College avenue, spent the weekend visiting their parents.

Blamed for Everything

ALBERT DAGGY HOME DAMAGED BY A MONDAY MORNING FIRE

LOSS ON FRAME RESIDENCE, ON WASHINGTON STREET ROAD, JUST EAST OF CITY LIMITS, WILL AMOUNT TO PROBABLY $2,500—CITY FIRE DEPARTMENT LENDS AID

The frame, story and a half residence of Albert Daggy, just east of the city limits on the Washington street road, was damaged by fire to the extent of probably $2,000 to $2,500 at near 10:30 o'clock Monday morning.

Fire, which probably started from a defective line or electric wiring, had gained quite a headway before it was discovered. A call to the Greencastle Fire department took the firemen to the scene.

A long line of hose had to be laid in order to reach the building and before the water could be thrown on the fire, virtually all of the building above the first story had been burned. Loss to the first story by fire and water is great.

Mr. Daggy who was at home first heard a crackling sound which he believed might be fire. He went outside the house but could see no indications of fire. A few minutes later one of his daughters went into the yard and discovered that the roof of the house was afire. Within a few minutes the entire roof was a mass of flames.

Because of the length of time required to make the long run to the house and get the hose laid the house virtually was destroyed before water could be thrown. Not only the house but the contents are ruined by water.

Mr. Daggy stated that he had insurance covering his property but it probably will not be sufficient to cover the entire loss.

BALTZELL TO BE NAMED AS NEW FEDERAL JUDGE

JUDGE A. B. ANDERSON TO BE PROMOTED TO HIGHER OFFICE BY PRESIDENT COOLIDGE—GIBSON COUNTY MAN TO SUCCEED ANDERSON

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—Problems presented in appointment of federal judges in the sixth and seventh circuits of the court of appeals and in Kentucky, Indiana and Ohio, have been virtually solved by President Coolidge and nominations covering vacancies will be sent to the senate soon after the Christmas recess of congress.

Final recommendations in several of the cases have not been made by the department of justice but decision has practically been reached in all of them, some of which have been pending for more than a year. They will represent the largest single group of judgeships filled by Mr. Coolidge since he became President.

The judgeships to be filled and the appointments as now contemplated in the seventh district and district of Indiana are:

Court of Appeals, Seventh District, embracing Indiana, Wisconsin and Illinois—Federal District Judge A. B. Anderson of Indiana, to fill the place of the late Frances E. Baker of Indiana.

District of Indiana—Robert C. Baltzell of Gibson county, to fill the vacancy created by the promotion of Judge Anderson to the Court of Appeals.

WORKING HARD FOR GAME WITH SHELBYVILLE

GREENCASTLE HIGH SCHOOL NET SQUAD IS PUTTING IN A STRENUOUS CHRISTMAS HOLIDAY SCHEDULE—NEXT CONTEST FRIDAY NIGHT

Strenuous practice periods daily, during Christmas vacation, has been the program of Coach W. E. Bausman mentor of the Greencastle High School basketball team in preparing the Tiger Cubs for the net tilt with the strong Shelbyville team, here Friday night.

The same line-up that was defeated by Manual here a week ago and which according to the verdict of many should have won the Manual game, has been working together since that time. Daily practice sessions against the Greencastle Specials Independent quintet and the High School second team, has smoothed the team work of this combination and done much to perfect a stronger offensive game.

McNeff, former Putnamville player, who played a fighting but ragged game at back guard in the Manual game, his first start for Greencastle, has shown much improvement during the past week and has probably earned a permanent berth at this position. McNeff suffered a fractured rib in the Manual game but has been practicing daily with the Tiger Cubs in spite of this handicap. He will be in shape to start the game against Shelbyville.

Other players on the squad have also shown improvement. Hours of passing the ball by the cubs has corrected much of the fumbling evidenced in the Manual game. Long periods of shooting from the four line during the past week, has also given the members of the High School squad more accuracy on their free throws. In the several days remaining before the Shelbyville game, Coach Bausman expects to develop the strongest Tiger Cub combination that he has put on the hardwood floor for Greencastle this year.

Although probably expecting a defeat by Shelbyville, probably one of the strongest teams in the state, by reason of its defeat of Martinsville, state champs, in an overtime game last Friday night, the Tiger Cubs nevertheless are preparing to give the visitors a real battle before submitting to a defeat at its hands.

The Tiger Cub combination that has been working the past week end and which if nothing happens, will face Shelbyville Friday night, is composed of Ader and Frazier, forwards; Tate, center and captain Masten and McNeff, guards.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth West, of this city, spent the day Sunday, visiting the former's parents, in Coatesville.

MRS. ORVILLE EARLIE DIES SUNDAY IN BRAZIL

Announcement of the death of Mrs. Orville Earlie, a former Greencastle woman, was received here Monday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Orville Earlie resided in Greencastle for many years, but a few years ago removed to Brazil so that they might be with their daughter, who is a teacher in the Brazil schools. Two daughters and a son and the husband survive. Mrs. W. P. Sackett and Miss Garnett Sackett went to Brazil Monday, called by the death of Mrs. Earlie.

MERCURY GOES 18 BELOW ZERO SATURDAY NIGHT

THIRD COLD WAVE WITHIN TEN DAYS SENDS TEMPERATURE TO A RECORD LOW MARK FOR DECEMBER—FIVE BELOW SUNDAY NIGHT

The temperature, thought to be the lowest on record for December, in Greencastle, was registered by the government weather thermometer, in charge of Fire Chief John Goddard, Saturday night and Sunday.

The mercury in the thermometer bobbed to a minimum temperature of 18 degrees below zero Saturday night and hovered around the 18 degree below mark, until 8 o'clock Sunday morning. Between 8 o'clock and 2 o'clock Sunday, thermometer rose 28 degrees, standing at 10 above zero at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. At 2 o'clock the thermometer again started its downward slide and at 9 o'clock Sunday night stood at 5 below zero again. At this period, it again started to rise and rose to 1 degree below, at the end of the next hour or 10 o'clock and rose rapidly during the rest of the night standing at 10 degrees above zero at 8 o'clock Monday morning.

Many persons were surprised at being told of the extreme low temperature. Lack of wind which made the cold less noticeable caused many to think the weather much warmer than it really was.

The intense cold wave was felt by both the T. H. I. & E. traction line and steam roads. Steam roads which have never fully recovered from previous cold wave, were even more delayed by the Sunday, below Zero temperature.

The traction line was the most hampered during the day Sunday. Two trolley wire breaks between Greencastle and Indianapolis and 3 trolley breaks, snapped by the cold, west of Greencastle, resulted in cars traveling hours late out of Greencastle. Only one car went east on the traction line Sunday morning. The 7:32 left after nine o'clock. The next car east did not leave the local station until after 12 o'clock. Cars from the east, although not traveling according to schedule were more frequent. The breaks in the trolley east of Greencastle, one at Cartersburg and the other east of Plainfield were repaired first allowing cars to come from this direction. The trolley breaks to the west were longer in being repaired and prevented cars coming from the west until late in the day.

Traction cars were restored to schedule Monday morning.

JEFFERSON TOWNSHIP MAN DIES SUDDENLY SATURDAY

William D. Watts, age 75, of Jefferson township, died suddenly at Mill Creek church, Saturday evening at near 6:30 o'clock, while sitting in the church awaiting services to begin. Coroner J. E. McCurry, who was called, pronounced death the result of heart trouble.

Mr. Watts, who lived with a son, James Watts and family, one half mile south of the church, had walked to the church about 6 o'clock to attend revival services being conducted at the church. He arrived early before lights had been turned on, and was sitting in the dark talking to Andy Hill, a friend. Suddenly Hill, according to his testimony to Coroner McCurry, felt Watts throw an arm again him and turning a flashlight, Hill saw Watts had collapsed. Death had evidently occurred almost instantly.

Five children survive. Watts had lived near Mill Creek Church for several years.

NOTRE DAME IS THE FAVORITE IN BIG GAME

HOOSIER'S RECORD BOOSTS ODD FOR NEW YEAR'S TILT WITH STANFORD—CALIFORNIA CHAMPIONS IN BEST CONDITION OF SEASON

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 27.—Notre Dame university's football team—the most widely advertised eleven the country ever has known—is a top-heavy favorite over Stanford university at this writing.

In no place are reputations for past performance of such little worth as on the football gridiron, where the uncertainties of sport—known in football as "the breaks"—provide upset after upset and sent reputed favorites down to defeat time after time.

Tickets In Demand

Stanford tackles Notre Dame on New Year's day at Rose Bowl, Pasadena, before 53,000 persons. Were the bowl large enough there would be 99,000 in it as it is conservatively estimated that more than thirty-five thousand persons have been disappointed in the quest for the desired pastboards. What few tickets have reached the hands of spectators are commanding fabulous prices. Recently a batch of six seats on the thirty-yard line brought $250. Other prices have been quoted at $15 for seats behind the goal posts up to $50 for a single ticket within the seating zone of the playing field.

Interest in the game is national in scope. Football writers from all parts of the country have deluged the committees with requests for working reservations. Coaches and experts from every conceivable spot where the great collegiate game is played are flocking to Los Angeles for the contest.

Irish Alumni Going
A delegation of 500 Chicago alumni of Notre Dame are due Tuesday and it is said that many of them are without tickets depending upon getting them when they arrive here.

The "fighting Irish" of Notre Dame—twenty-eight strong and headed by Knute K. Rockne, their versatile and crafty coach—are due Wednesday morning. They plan to hold one light signal drill, acclimate themselves to the turf of Rose Bowl and to hibernate until game time on Thursday.

Glen S. Warner, dean of American coaches and head mentor for Stanford brought his Cardinal eleven to Pasadena this morning. This gives Stanford three days of acclimation to whatever conditions the weather man chooses to hand out.

Stanford comes with its full strength—stronger, in fact, than at any time during the season just closed. This is because of the return of Ernie Nevers giant full back who rips and tears perfectly good lines to pieces when he "hits" 'em.

Warner Great Coach
Warner has a well-drilled squad in perfect physical condition for the grueling game that Notre Dame is expected to provide.

Notre Dame, because of her highly successful season against tough opposition, is made a 2-to-1 favorite to defeat Stanford.

The football world rates Rockne and Warner as its two best coaches. Rockne's brains and craft will meet its supreme test against those of Warner. As a team Notre Dame is the flashier. But Warner is a foxy gentleman.

Rockne and Notre Dame are meeting stiff competition. Experts believe that Rockne and Notre Dame will win by 10 points but it is an even bet at any stage of the going. Stanford may upset the dope. Anyway, it is going to be a great game and a great crowd will see it.

The Vanderbilt College basketball quintet was defeated by the Butler net squad, 37 to 17 in a game played Saturday night in Tomlinson Hall, Indianapolis. This is the first of a series of games the southern team will play in Indiana during the holidays. Franklin and DePauw each are on the schedule of the invaders.

Miss Lela Walls and Mrs. George R. Christie have issued invitations for Bridge-Luncheon to be at the home of Miss Walls west Washington street, Wednesday and Friday afternoons.

Crossing The Bar.
Sunset and evening star,
And one clear call for me,
And may there be no moaning at the bar,
When I put out to sea.

But such a tide as moving seems asleep,
To full for sound and foam,
When that which drew from out the boundless deep,
Turns again home.

Twilight and evening bell,
And after that the dark.
And may there be no sadness of farewell,
When I embark.

For tho' from out our bourne of Time and Place,
The flood may bear me far,
I hope to see my Pilot face to face
When I have crossed the Bar.

PURDUE JERSEY WINS SECOND GOLD MEDAL

The first cow in Indiana to win two gold medals in succession is Lady Clarice Mae 434326, a Jersey that was developed and tested by the Purdue University Experiment Station of Lafayette. A year ago she won her first gold medal and silver medal for producing 716lbs of fat at age of 3 years and 9 months. This record is the largest one that has been made by any senior three-year-old Jersey in this state, and as a result Clarice Mae holds the Jersey State Championship in this age class. She was also tested as a senior two-year-old when she yielded 478 lbs. of fat. She freshened in splendid condition after her last test and has been put to work again to make her fourth official record.

HALF OF INDIANA'S TAX DOLLAR FOR SCHOOLS

Almost fifty cents of the average 1923 farm tax dollar in Indiana was levied for school purposes, according to a statement by the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation. Of this dollar, 47.5 cents went to the support of education, 27.8 cents for the construction and maintenance of highways, while the remaining 24.6 cents was divided between the general costs of government, benevolent institutions and miscellaneous expenditures, the statement continues.

Other interesting facts concerning taxation in this state were also unearthed by the Foundation, which based its statement on a review of selected farmers by the government. A study of 109 Indiana rented farms covering the years 1919 to 1923 showed an average advance in taxes from 90 cents per acre 1919 to $1.60 in 1923. There was a slight decline in 1923 to $1.41 per acre. On account of the lower rentals in the latter years, however, a very much greater percentage in increase in taxes is shown when figured on the basis of net rent for the two periods. The percentage of net rent paid out in taxes on these Indiana farms rose from 12.4 percent in 1919 to 39.6 in 1923.

According to the government investigation only 16.9 per cent of the rural taxes paid in Indiana during 1923 went to the support of the state government. The rent was levied and spent locally—45.4 per cent by the townships and 37.7 per cent by the counties. Few farmers paid any Federal income tax that year, so this item is ignored in the calculation. Broaching the facts for the country, the statement calls attention to the fact that taxes on the average farm last year amounted to approximately 17.6 per cent of the net farm returns. Nearly seven per cent of the gross value of all farm products went to pay farm taxes in 1923 as compared with only 4.9 per cent in 1913.

Mrs. Nancy Cole and son Walter of Milltown, Indiana, spent the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Ellis, 206 west Franklin street. Mrs. Cole is a sister of Mrs. Ellis.

Cornelia Makes a Selection

By H. IRVING KING

(Copyright.)
CORNELIA BLIVIN was a spoiled child. Her father had amassed so much money that he could not tell exactly how rich he was himself. Her mother was a languid, drowsy, corpulent woman, who believed that "there was no joy but calm." Being an only child, heiress-apparent to her father's millions, Cornelia might have been married twenty times over if she had wanted to. But she didn't want to. Then suddenly she took it into her head that she did want to. "Mother," said she one day, "I am going to be married."

"Well, well, Corny," said the fond mother. "I suppose you are old enough to be married. Whom are you going to marry?"

"I have not decided yet," replied Cornelia.

"Got any special one in mind?" asked Mrs. Blivin.

"No, no one in particular—as yet. I have two dinners, two dances and a reception on this week and shall probably select somebody before Saturday," said Cornelia.

"Have you spoken to your father about this?" asked Mrs. Blivin.

"Not yet," replied Cornelia, "but I shall. Father won't object. He never has objected to anything I did yet, and it's pretty late in the game for him to begin now."

And Cornelia, who, when she had taken a resolution, was not in the habit of letting the grass grow under her feet, ordered out her own particular motor and went down to her father's office to tell him what he might expect. She regarded it as a mere matter of form—but Cornelia was rather a stickler for form.

"Father," she breezed when she was alone with her parent in his private office, "I am going to be married."

"Bless me, child!" said Blivin. "Who to?"

"Oh, I haven't decided yet. I shall this week," she warbled.

For the first time in his life Blivin displayed a tendency to go contrary to his daughter's wishes. "Hum," said he. "This is a serious matter. There are lots of fellows who would be anxious to marry you just to get at my money."

"Goodness gracious, father," cried Cornelia, "don't you suppose there are men who would be willing to marry me just for myself?"

"Perhaps," growled Blivin, "but if there are any such I'd like to know them first and be sure. Look here, I tell you flat that you shan't marry any man I don't approve of."

"You are too cruel," sobbed Cornelia, bursting into tears. "I'll marry any man I please and you shan't have a thing to say about it." And she dried her eyes and went home, snarling from her first rebuff.

She hardly spoke to her parents all that week, but Saturday night at dinner she calmly remarked that she was going to marry Casper White.

"Hum, hum, a good selection," said Blivin. "Excellent young man. I approve of your choice."

It never occurred to the man of millions that perhaps Casper White would have something to say in the matter.

Now there was a young man at the table when Cornelia made her announcement who frowned darkly. He was Walter Reynolds, a third cousin of Cornelia, who had been brought up by old man Blivin and was now his secretary. "White is engaged to Mabel Landers," said Walter sourly.

"What of it?" snapped Cornelia.

"Oh, that can be arranged, I guess," said Blivin. "The girl hasn't a cent."

"Has Mr. White paid you any special attention?" asked Mrs. Blivin.

"Well—no—not yet," replied Cornelia, "but he is three times as sensible as the other young men I meet in society. He's more like Walter here." The last part slipped out before she realized what she was saying; and she could have bitten her tongue off for the slip.

Walter was all very well as a cousin—but Cornelia had for some time had a suspicion that he aspired to be something nearer than a cousin. While everybody else let her do as she pleased and approved what she did, Walter had the cheek to object to many of her performances. What did she care what Walter thought? What was he to her, anyway? After dinner that Saturday night Walter and Cornelia happened to find themselves alone together in the library.

"Cornelia," said Walter, "you are a spoiled child, and you know it."

"I'm not," cried Cornelia.

"Yes you are," returned Walter. "You have had your way so long that you have ceased to realize that there are other people in the world to be considered. Now you are not, really going to try to break up the engagement between poor little Mabel Landers and Casper White, are you?"

Now Cornelia was a goodhearted girl. "No," she faltered. "I don't know as I want to do that. But Casper is more common sense than most of the fellows I know, and I won't marry fool."

"You said at dinner," stammered Walter, "that he was—"

"I said he was nearer like you than that's what I said," put in Cornelia. "Oh, well, I don't know as I want Casper after all."

"Whom do you want?" asked Walter, looking at her eagerly.

"Gracious me," cried Cornelia, "I've got to tell you? Whom do you want?"

Walter had her in his arms in a flash.

Pa on Winter

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

A WINTER now ain't like the one
We used to have when me and mother
Got out of school and first begun
To run around with one another.
Who hears of sleighin' parties now?
Or hay rides out to country dances?
Life ain't the same, no way, no how—
And yet they say the world advances.

Not only livin' ain't the same—
We haven't even got the weather;
A winter now is rather tame,
And differently altogether.
We used to take the girls and go
A-skatth' on the frozen river,
And wash their faces in the snow,
And laff and yell to see 'em shiver.

Them winter days was full of joy,
Them winter nights was full of lifter,
And ev'ry girl and ev'ry boy
Remembers them forever after.
Lord, how a fellow's head was tight
With things he didn't dare to utter
When on some certain Sunday night
He drove her somewhere in a cutter!

Them good old days are dead and gone,
No feet of snow we have, but inches—
No more of blizzards at the dawn
Or nights of starry frost that pinches.
Old age must set beside the fire,
Where ruddy red the coal is gleamin',
And know old joy and old desire,
But know 'em only in our dreamin'.

Mother's Cook Book

Except living man there is nothing more wonderful than a book! A message to us from the dead—from human souls we never saw, who live perhaps thousands of miles away. And yet these, in those little sheets of paper, speak to us, arouse us, terrify us, teach us, comfort us, open their hearts to us as brothers.—Charles Kingsley.

FOOD FOR THE FAMILY

WHOLEsome food should be the uppermost thought of the housewife who is interested in the health of her family. Greens are good at any season of the year, and may be made the feature of a meal once or twice a week.

Onion Stuffed Apples.

Pare and core six tart apples. Place in a frying pan three tablespoonfuls of bacon fat, add to this three quarters of a cupful of chopped onion, cook until a delicate brown. Season with one-half teaspoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of sugar and a dash of sa-prika. Add one-half cupful of soft bread crumbs and fill the cavities of the apples with this mixture. Sprinkle the apples lightly with sugar and bake until they are tender. Serve with roast pork.

Rochester Ginger Bread.

Cream three-fourths of a cupful of

Reflections of a Bachelor Girl

By HELEN ROWLAND

MOST of a man's troubles in life are caused, not by love, but by his mistakes in diagnosing it. Most men are so apt to confuse the symptoms of spring fever with the symptoms of the love fever.

Of course, a man doesn't believe everything flattering that a woman tells him; but that doesn't lessen the effect with which he repeats it to the next woman.

The first deception wounds a woman's heart, the second breaks it, the third mends it—and all the rest simply harden it.

One reason why a bachelor grows so morose in his old age is that he goes all through life with his heart bumping along on skid-chains.

Some husbands act as though they believed that all the compliments in the world were copyrighted, and it would be dangerous to use them.

A man who divorces his conscience,
and a woman who divorces the conventions are the highest alimony payers in the world.

A woman often plans how she will "make a man suffer"; but a man can make a woman suffer just by acting naturally.

The motto of the flapper appears to be, "First come, first kissed."

Redwood Grove Memorial to Franklin K. Lane

The spirit of the late Franklin K.
Lane was invoked at the dedication of the Redwood grove in his memory at Kettintelle, in Humboldt county, California, recently. He loved the great forests of the Pacific coast and in his official capacity had occasion to turn this love into the channels of protection, says the New York Times. Mr.
Lane was an apostle of the parks,
seeking to preserve, enlarge and improve the lands set aside by state and nation for the enjoyment of future generations. To him the great stretches of wilderness were spots to be saved. But at the same time they were, as he put it, a challenge to man.
"Master me! Put me to use! Make me something more than I am!" were the words in which he described the challenge of the wilderness. And in response to it he sought to show the people of the country how much could be added to the available regions by the love and thought of man. It was not enough for him that they were preserved. They must also be made accessible.

The redwood grove dedicated in his memory is only a small tract—19 acres. It adjoins the Humboldt state redwood park, in the heart of one of the finest remaining redwood regions, and itself contains unusually splendid specimens of this giant tree. More common than its cousin, the sequoia gigantea, or "big tree," it has also been subject to greater destruction. It attains neither the weight nor the age of the big trees, but is often taller.
Where the giant sequoias reach a diameter of 35 feet, the redwoods rarely exceed ten feet. John Muir has estimated the age of some of the biggest specimens of sequoias at between 3,000 and 4,000 years, whereas few redwoods have been found over 1,400 years of age.

The worst enemy of the redwood, as of the big trees, is man, insects and other pests being unable to attack the large specimens, and even fire more often than not leaves them unscathed, owing to the thick bark and tough nature of the wood. The greed of man, however, is insatiable. Against this the only effective protection is control by state or national bureaus. Travelers in the '80s and '90s describe the ruthless destruction of these giant forests by lumberers, who used methods so wasteful that often two-thirds of a tree was unfit for use.

City's Rapid Growth

Fifty-three years ago, Akron, Ohio, was selected as the site for the first rubber factory to be established west of the Allegheny mountains. At that time it was an easy-going little city of less than 10,000 inhabitants, covering only a few square miles of ground.
The Akron of today as compared with 53 years ago is vastly different, says the India Rubber Review. The city now covers more than 25 square miles. It has a population in excess of 200,000. Its many rubber and tire factories employ more than 50,000 persons. More than 50 per cent of all rubber tires made in the world are products of Akron factories. The value of the output of tires and other rubber products exceeds $500,000,000 a year. Compared to the first rubber factory of half a century ago, run by water power, Akron's rubber factories of today consume more than 500,000 horsepower of steam and electrical energy every 24 hours.

Queen of the China Sea

Capt. W. H. Dowman, the owner of the famous old tea-clipper Cutty Sark,
is considering whether he will put canvas on the ship and endeavor to break the old sailing record to Australia, says London Answers.

The Cutty Sark has now been practically refitted from a barquentine into a full-rigged ship, carrying a main sky-sail yard. The aim has been to get as near as possible to the ship's rig in 1870 when under Captain Moodie she made the quickest voyage from China of all the clipper fleet.

It would, however, take at least two years to complete arrangements for the Australian voyage. The Cutty Sark is at present at Falmouth and was a striking feature at the recent Povey regatta.

Odd Uses for Clock

Give a 75-cent alarm clock to a native on the island of New Caledonia, 1,100 miles north of Australia, and he will get a million dollars' worth of jewelry out of it, according to Edward Baden of Cincinnati, Ohio, who has returned home after a South sea voyage. The natives break the clocks, tie the shining brass work around their wrists, the springs on their legs and the nicked parts and dial on their breasts and faces.

His Action

"Hello, Sonny!" saluted a motorist who had penetrated into the remote Rumpus Ridge region. The time was in the early dusk. "Is that your father over there running from those hooded and robed men?"

"No," replied young Bearcat, son of Gap Johnson, C. whom you may have heard. "He's flying."—Kansas City Times.

Scotch Reading More

People of Scotland are turning more to reading, the circulation of the Edinburgh library now being nearly double that of last year.

New English M. D.'s

Medical graduates in England numbered 2,482 last year, bringing the rate nearly to one medical man for every 1,000 people.

"FOR EAST IS EAST AND WEST IS WEST"

How Shall the Occident Un- derstand the Orient?

China is the land of paradoxes. One night I heard two old missionaries prove that the Chinese were the most closefisted people the Lord ever made. The next night I heard two other missioners, just as well informed as the first two, prove that there was not a Chinese man from Peking to Peking who knew the value of a dollar. Like Sir Roger de Coverley, I came to the conclusion that there was much to be said on both sides.

When John Chinaman is engaged in business or in any deal that holds forth the chance of profit, even though the profit is but a chin (one-twentieth of a cent), he works with a single-eyed purpose that is marvelous. Every business deal with him has all the excitement of a mystery; he knows he is out to get all he can for every article in his store and his buyer knows he is not going to pay a chin more than he has to, even though he finds it necessary to talk price from sunrise to sunset.

Despite the constant throwing back and forth of business lies, suaviter et fortiter in modo as the situation suits the case, once business is over, the sneering merchant or the grasping farmer becomes such a fool with his money that he even excites the ire of the loose-fisted occidental.

The profit of a whole year will be thrown away in a card game and there will be no crying about spilt milk, nor certain lectures from friends re-echoing an "I told you so" in his ears. In few cases, indeed, will the spouse muster up courage enough to complain; all goes on as before minus the money.
To find out the number of games of chance in which these people indulge is like trying to take the census of the bugs in a rice paddy. You have to adopt the Chinese attitude and just admit there are many hundreds of them which may lead to millions if you investigate.

The business instinct with a "chance"
even goes on with the youngsters.
After the boys have fingered over every peppermint stick on the tray and made many comparisons to be sure they get the fat one, they generally end up by asking for dice and by engaging in a little African pastime with the candy seller, to see if they can get two sticks. The result is frequently they do not get any.—Rev. P. A. Taggart, in the Field Star.

Oldtime Bathing Rules

Several British seaside resorts now permit mixed bathing. Blackpool among them. In the old Puritan days bathing machines and tents were unheard of and women and men bathed at different hours. A bellman went the round of the streets ringing his bell upon which ladies desiring to bathe left their lodging clad in dark blue gowns reaching almost to the ground, and while they enjoyed a dip in the sea, it was an unwritten law that men should remain indoors.
"Peeping Toms" were not struck with blindness, but were subjected to a fine. When the ladies had returned to their homes there was more bell-ringing, which was the signal for the male bathers that they could safely proceed to the shore and indulge in a swim. There does not seem to have been any rule that while they were doing so the ladies should remain indoors.

Under the Floor

Revival of the covering of the floor in the Westminster abbey chapter house, the meeting place of the first house of parliament, has uncovered in the old tiling found beneath a veritable treasure house of historic information concerning the England of 700 years ago. Mingled with the designs and patterns were portraits of Henry III and other notables.

With these new glimpses into the lives of almost forgotten heroes, the floor revealed interesting facts concerning the making of tile. Red clay was pressed into a mold that had the design carved on its surface. While the clay was still damp it was removed and the depressions formed by the pattern were filled with white clay. After glazing and firing the pieces were ready for the floor.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

The Fortieth Lesson

Octavius Roy Cohen, the authority on negro dialect, said in Birmingham
the other day:

"I once tried to teach a little Alabama colored boy to speak pure English. I'll never forget the despairing way he said to me at the end of the fortieth lesson:

"Dey aren't no 'aint you," is dey?
It's 'aren't you,' ain't it."

Find Meteor in Africa

What is described as the most important visitor from the skies ever to fall to earth has been discovered in the North African desert. It is an enormous mass of meteoric stone, with a volume in the neighborhood of 100,000 cubic meters. M. La Croix, French geologist, who studied the meteorite, says it contains some rare metals.

Jungle Dresses Appear

What newspaper paragraphers have seen fit to call "jungle dresses" have made their appearance in Europe.
They are made from silk, colored and spun so as to resemble the skins of wild animals. Leopards and tigers are the animals chiefly chosen for the motif.

Valuable minutes

In the few minutes required to run your eye over these advertising columns, you may learn of something that will serve your convenience for years.

Rather valuable few minutes!

You aren't spending time when you are reading advertisements. You are saving both time and money.
Each day advertisers help you to compare values and prices. They tell you where you can secure the best and most serviceable at lowest cost.

Advertised goods are more dependable than goods un-advertised. They can't afford to be otherwise.

Make a daily habit of reading the advertisements. It pays.

Mistakes in buying are costly—avoid them by reading advertisements
